and Dr Suman Fernando Suman Fernando, who wrote the foreword for Working with Ethnicity, Race & Culture in Mental Health has been at the forefront of race and critical psychiatry for over 30 years.
Professor Joanna Bennett has been an academic and an activist for change in mental health services for over 30 years.
Following her brother's death after being restrained in a psychiatric unit, Joanna spearheaded a national family campaign for justice, which led to The David Bennett Inquiry and subsequently the Government policy on Delivering Race Equality. This will be a candid conversation about 'where next' with regard to race and mental health in the UK.
